The IEP Team Professional Learning Experience
Module 1:	Overview & Getting Ready
Module 2:	Data-Driven Present Levels of Performance
Module 3:	Measurable Goals
Module 4:	Accommodations, Modifications, & Service Delivery

Point of slide – remind why modules and content of this specific module

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

Modules serve the dual purposes of refreshing and extending professional learning. They incorporate guidance on how to make decisions based on new and changing requirements, such as Louisiana’s Act 833.

Module 1 – The Overview

Module 2 – Data-driven Present Levels of Performance

Module 3 – Measurable Goals

Module 4 – Accommodations, Modifications, and Service Delivery

(Highlight) Module 2 – focus on data-driven decision-making as part of a conversation about the student in general (General Student Information) and specifically (present levels of academic achievement and functional performance) for specific educational need areas; use these data to write individualized program

Module 2: Purpose

- What do we mean by present levels?
- What data should be used?
- How might the data be analyzed?
- What decisions can be made from the data analysis, including those for Act 833?
- How do you decide on student need and write an effective present level statement?

Point of slide – to provide general purposes, continuity – ties Module 1 to Module 2

PRESENTER – Learner Handout packet, p. 1

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

Module 1 answered four important questions –

- Why have an IEP?
- Why have an IEP team and meeting?
- What are the essential or critical components of an IEP? and
- What are the expected outcomes?

Module 2 builds on the key foundation of the IEP Team meeting, conversation about the student

- Present levels are descriptions of the student’s performance related to academic performance and functional outcomes
- Data about the individual student for making decisions

Questions to frame the module:

1. What do we mean by present levels?
2. What data should be used?
3. How might the data be analyzed?
4. What decisions can be made from the data analysis, including those for Act 833?
5. How do you decide on student need and write an effective present level statement?

NOTE: Current module is not an in-depth workshop on data analysis practices, but will provide more information on data sources and data conversations

Module 2: Expected Outcomes

Participants Will:

- ✓ Identify data sources that inform the IEP conversation
- ✓ Consider data analyses that facilitate IEP Team decisions, including those related to Act 833
- ✓ Know the importance of present levels of performance to IEP development
- ✓ Engage in individual and group learning

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- Elementary and Secondary Education Act- accountability for all students, with challenging content
  - "The purpose of this title is to ensure that all children have a fair, equal, and significant opportunity to obtain a high-quality education and reach, at a minimum, proficiency on challenging state academic achievement standards and state academic assessments."(See more at: <http://www.wrightslaw.com/heath/progress.curriculum.htm#sthash.rjtia3iZ.dpuf>)
  - From Secretary Duncan’s speech – January 2015 – about reauthorizing ESEA: “Let’s choose the path that says that we, as a nation, are serious about real opportunity for every single child.”
- IDEA - students are to have access to content standards and make progress in general ed curriculum, participate in assessments, and “reasonable” accommodations
  - IDEA states that the IEP must be based on "the child's present levels of academic achievement and functional performance." It must include "a statement of measurable annual goals, including academic and functional goals, designed to meet the child's needs that result from the child's disability to enable the child to be involved in and make progress in the general education curriculum ..."(See more at: <http://www.wrightslaw.com/heath/progress.curriculum.htm#sthash.rjtia3iZ.dpuf>)
- 833 provides an alternate pathway for grade promotion and graduation for certain students with disabilities. Whether or not an individual student is eligible for this alternate pathway is part of the entire conversation of general information about the student and development of the description of present levels of performance.

- The IEP is NOT a document with blank spaces to be completed
- IEP Team has important responsibility to thoroughly and thoughtfully consider the educational and functional outcomes, both short-term and long-term, of the student
- IEP Meeting is a process. IEP document -a product that results in meaningful information
  - Process: effective planning - one-year plan that focuses on goals
  - Product: plan “reasonably calculated to result in educational benefit” for the individual student

Consider the Whole Child

- Academic
- Behavior
- Communication
- Recreation & Leisure
- Health, Physical, Mental, Medical (Including Hearing & Vision)
- Technology (Use & Potential Need)

Additional Considerations:

- Jobs & Job Training
- Postsecondary Education
- Community Participation
- Home/Independent Living

Reminders to participants:

- Even as we talk about individual “areas and considerations” of General Student Information, the point of the conversation is the child/student
- IEP Team needs to consider both academic achievement and functional performance – the WHOLE child, the WHOLE student
- Consider the student’s interests, both likes and dislikes - involve the student in the IEP process
- Different IEP Team members contribute different pieces of information
- Additional considerations are for long-term planning to reach ultimate outcomes

What information and data should be gathered before the meeting about the general education curriculum and classroom?

Considerations for Decision Making

- Gather Data
- Examine & Analyze Data
- Specify Current Performance
- Identify Gaps

Point of the slide - Preparation is key to an effective and efficient individual education program team meeting. Identify four steps in using data for describing present levels of performance in the general education curriculum and classroom.

NOTE TO PRESENTER – click to make Considerations for Decision Making box appear

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- Foundations of special education = guarantee that ALL students with disabilities
  - Receive FAPE
  - Have access to and involvement in the general education curriculum and general education classroom
- Consider what constitutes “appropriate” for selected students:
  - Expectation that all students can succeed in the general curriculum in the general education classroom
  - IEP team needs to know about the general curriculum and classroom, including gathering information about content, academic and functional performance standards, performance measurement, and other expectations
- IEP meetings = data driven process; need to gather or collect, examine and analyze data to determine current performance, and any academic or functional gaps
- Emphasize each team member as an important source of data for information about the student

Gathering the Information

Before the IEP Team Meeting, pull together the most recent information that best describes the student's academic and functional performance

- ✓ Screening Data
- ✓ Evaluation Summary
- ✓ Teacher Data
- ✓ Parent/Family Information
- ✓ Student Self-Report Data
- ✓ Office Referral Data
- ✓ Observation Results
- ✓ Related Service Provider Data
- ✓ Extracurricular Staff Reports

Point of the slide – continue emphasis on preparation of all members for the IEP Team meeting

PRESENTER – Learner Handout packet, pp. 12-19 – information required for initial, review, and interim IEPs (Bulletin 1530)

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- Points to consider before the meeting -
  - Gather information before the meeting to consolidate and format for easy review
  - Provide data summaries to every team member before the meeting
  - Use written or verbal communications for data gathering
- During the meeting –
  - Remember each IEP Team member is an equal participant
  - Use meeting time to talk about the student using data
  - Identify additional data that were missed, if necessary
  - Encourage parents/families to share additional information they may have from private service providers or extra-curricular activities outside of school sponsored ones.

When Using Data from Evaluations

- Required for IEP development following initial evaluation or re-evaluation
- Choose data that are most relevant for accessing the general curriculum
- Use descriptive data versus a test or standard score
- Make sure the information is current

Point of the slide – note that evaluation information is required to be considered and addressed in General Student Information, yet, when the information may be a year or more old there is a need to consider more current/recent data on student performance

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- IDEA regulation [§300.324 (a)] requires IEP team to consider the results of the initial or most recent evaluations to ensure that the evaluation information is part of the IEP discussion.
- Comprehensive evaluations contain academic and functional assessments tied to the general classroom, including data outlined in the LA screening guidelines
- In preparation, check the dates of reports
- CAUTION - if the evaluation report is mostly test scores on assessments not aligned with the general curriculum or state standards or is more than a year old, the team will need to gather and review additional academic achievement and functional performance data

Point of the slide – emphasis on thorough examination of data to guide good decision making

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- Purpose of the IEP is to meet the student’s individualized needs:
1) to enable involvement in and progress in the general education curriculum; and
2) resulting from the disability.
- Achieving these purposes means basing decisions on present levels of performance data.
- Taking time at the meeting for comprehensive data analysis is key to ensuring that the best decisions for the student are made at this point in time to support the future outcomes
- It may be tempting to skimp on the data discussion and move quickly to the decisions, but it is critical to not shortchange this step.
- Emphasize again - Preparation is vital.

5 Basic types of data analysis (with examples):

- Disaggregation (by specific skill, class/subject, setting, specific behaviors)
- Comparison to Reference Group (state, grade-level peers, race, gender, disability category)
- Gap Analysis (difference between instructional level and current grade level, between student level of performance and expected level of performance)
- Outlier Identification (data points that do not fit an established pattern – significantly higher or lower than other data)
- Visual Analysis (examine data or graphs for trend, level, variability)

- Consider –
  - Data format
  - Show performance over time – progress or lack of progress
  - Highlight strengths
  - Note gaps
  - Use pictures whenever possible
  - Make sure it is self-explanatory and provide context
- Pictures of graphs: Tell a story – use visuals such as graphs, videos, pictures
- There are many ways to present data.
  - Student’s accountability data file
  - Student’s daily graphic progress chart
  - Student’s reading and quiz score comparison

Act 833: Implications for IEP Teams

- In the general conversation about the student, Act 833 consideration is included
- Expectation that general education is part of the IEP development and implementation
- Too easy to write an IEP in isolation. Students with disabilities must have access to learning skills and knowledge deemed critical to meeting promotion and graduation criteria
- When students with disabilities have access to the general curriculum and access to participation in the general education classroom
  - Many students need modifications and accommodations
  - Some students need opportunities to also receive specialized instruction designed to develop missing skills
  - Other students need an alternate pathway to promotion or graduation
  - ALL students require routine communication and coordination among IEP Team members

Act 833: Graduation & Promotion
	Graduation	Promotion
Eligibility Criteria	Student enters high school having not achieved at least a combination of basic/approaching basic on math and ELA in two of the three most recent years (6 th , 7 th , and 8 th grades) -or- Student does not achieve a score of Fair, Good, or Excellent after two attempts of the same EOC test.	In the school year immediately prior to each grade level in which the student would otherwise be required to demonstrate certain proficiency levels in order to advance to the next grade level, the student has not otherwise met the state and local requirements for promotion or has not otherwise met state-established benchmarks on the required state assessments.
Students to Consider	Students in grades T9-12	Students in grades K-8 (there are only state established requirements for promotion in 4 th and 8 th grades; in the 15-16 school year all promotion requirements will be based on local pupil progression plans)
Frequency of Eligibility Decision	Once the student is eligible for this pathway to a diploma they remain eligible	Eligibility decision made annually based on previous year's results

NOTE TO PRESENTER – Click to make each highlighting box appear

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

IEP teams should review records of Act 833 eligible students and determine if and when it is appropriate to apply individual performance criteria.

Student Act 833 eligibility for graduation categories

- Entering High School
- Becoming Eligible in High School.
  - 2 ways in high school if entered before or during 2012-13 school year

Act 833 Promotion – important for 4th and 8th grade promotion

A student’s Individualized Education Program team shall determine promotion to the next grade level for any student with a disability, who fails to meet the required achievement level necessary for promotion to the next grade on a test administered to students pursuant to this Section or policies adopted by the state board, provided the student meets certain criteria established by the Individualized Education Program team relative to performance on the student’s Individualized Education Program goals and objectives. Act 833, p. 2 of 8, lines 12-21.

For school years 2014-15 and 2015-16 Act 833 does not apply to promotion criteria. It is important remember that the IEP Teams should include conversations about promotion at each meeting.

Point of the slide – graphic reminder - how present levels conversations lead to decisions and ultimately decisions related to the student’s educational need(s) and goals

PRESENTER - use content below to frame presentation of material

For school years 2015-16 and 2016-17 Act 833 does not apply to promotion criteria. It is important remember that the IEP Teams should include conversations about promotion at each meeting.

Highlights of Present Levels conversation:

- Includes information in the general student information section of the IEP, including includes strengths, parent concerns, and academic, developmental and functional needs as well as other information.
- Leads to a determination of Act 833 eligibility
  - Note: In the earlier years of school (elementary and middle), IEP teams will primarily be making decisions specific to the need for adjustments for promotion. Still even the decisions about promotion criteria have an impact on the instructional needs of the student, including the needs for special education services as well as participation in the general classroom with accommodations or modifications.
- Determines course of study and the instructional content needs of the student

Note: a course of study is not generally associated with elementary and middle school in that students follow a set curriculum and do not have options for selecting different courses until high school. So in elementary and middle school years we think of course of study as the full general education curriculum and decisions related to promotion criteria are critical to determining the instructional needs and which of those needs requires special education services, including specialized services, related services, or instructional supports.

Purpose of the slide – provide an organizing visual scheme for the six areas of Educational Need

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- Take a bit of time here to talk about each of these organizing education need areas. (italics indicates words on IEP)
- Organizational structure is
  - Academic Areas = Academic/Cognitive = subject areas, such as English/language arts, math, science, history
  - Behavior = how the student interacts with the curriculum whether behavior impedes learning
  - Communication = verbal, non-verbal, and includes assistive technology use for communication
  - Motor = motor development, physical skills or limitations that pertain to the learning process
  - Self-Help = adaptive behavior, effectiveness with which the student copes with the natural and social demands of the learning environment
  - Social= includes social behavior including interactions with others, relationships
- Time to identify specific areas of educational need. General Student Information was only GENERAL information. Use similar methods of gathering data and engaging in conversation to 1) identify educational need areas and 2) write description for that area of academic achievement and functional performance.

Purpose of the slide – give an overview of major components of present levels descriptions

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- Reinforce the ongoing nature of an IEP meeting. Although slides and presentation make the process seem linear, one part of an IEP Meeting conversation informs other parts.
- Critical conversation within present levels has to do with the student’s participation in the statewide and district wide assessments.
- The actual decision about participation best made after the determination of goals and accommodations. Need to talk during present levels conversation because of the focus on the student’s performance in the general curriculum.
- Participation in statewide assessments is noted at the end of the IEP; however, the discussion begins here.

Components of Present Levels Descriptions

- Content Area Specific
- Specific to Individual Student
- Data-based
- Strengths
- Needs
- Gaps

Purpose of the slide – give an overview of components of present level of performance descriptions

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

Present level of performance descriptions must

- Be specific to the educational need, content area specific
- Be specific to the individual student
- Be data-based
  - Be written as objective statements
  - Be based on current data related to academic achievement and functional performance
  - Be framed in measurable terms
- Identify content area strengths, needs, and gaps in knowledge and/or skills

Notes: _____

_____

_____

_____

Performance Statements

Must Include:

- ✓ Academic Achievement
- ✓ Functional Performance
- ✓ Affect of the Student's Disability on Involvement and Progress in the General Education Curriculum

Purpose of the slide – review content of present level of academic achievement and functional performance descriptions

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- Describe performance in content areas
- Use data from progress monitoring, weekly work, state content standards
- Use objective, measurable terms
- Be specific
- Ensure scores (if used) are self-explanatory or include an explanation of the score.
- Complete description probably needs multiple sentences.
- IDEA regulations specifically note the requirement to describe how the disability affects performance in the general education curriculum, it's good practice to consider how the disability might affect adult life functioning, if not addressed. Be specific; do not just write the disability.

Academic Achievement

As a team, what do we know about this student's ability to perform the skills necessary? What gaps exist? What are the most essential skills/standards for his/her continued performance and progress?

- Math
- Reading/English Language Arts
- Social Studies/History
- Science/Biology

Purpose of the slide – give examples of academic achievement areas and how questions are used to guide conversation

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- Emphasize the areas on the slide are only examples of Academic Content areas. Talk about how to use the data and questions to determine what to include in the present level of performance statement
- Refer to standards to determine expectations at grade level
- Use the standards as a guide to determine what is important for the student to learn or be able to do
- Conduct an analysis to determine the gap between grade expectations and student's current skills/knowledge

Functional Performance

What do we know about this student's independent interactions with others? How does the student communicate wants and needs? Is the student meeting classroom behavior expectations?

- Social Interactions
- Behavioral Performance
- Communication Skills
- Performance in Areas of Leisure/Recreation, Self-management, Independent Living, etc.

Purpose of the slide – give examples of functional outcome or performance areas and how questions are used to guide conversation

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- Functional performance generally refers to skills or activities that may not be considered academic or related to a child's academic achievement
  - Functional performance areas and academic areas can overlap – for example, written communication skills could be a content area of Educational Need – Academic
  - Functional performance can impact educational achievement.
- Functional is often used in the context of routine activities of everyday living and are varied depending on the individual needs of the child.
  - Functional Performance could also be broader as is captured by Personal Development – community participation
  - Focus on both the present and the future – what does the student need now to function as independently as possible as well as in the future

The slide has a blue background. At the top center, the title "Performance in the General Curriculum" is written in white. Below the title, there are two callout boxes: a yellow one on the left containing the text "How does the disability affect performance?" and a green one on the right containing the text "Example - How does the disability affect progress in learning the grade-level content standards?". In the center of the slide, there is a photograph of a young girl with dark hair in a bun, wearing a blue sweater, sitting at a desk and looking down at a book or paper. Other students are visible in the background.

Purpose of the slide – how to address the question of “how does the student’s disability/disabilities affect academic and functional performance in the general curriculum?”

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- The next consideration is to discuss how the disability affects performance and the ability of the student to make progress in the general curriculum
- Convey the unique challenges or barriers that exist for the student as a result of the disability
- Describe the current levels of independence and any need for assistance.

PRESENTER – Learner Handout packet, p. 32

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. Turn to page 32 of the Learner Handout packet.
2. Read each description.
3. Determine whether each description is clear, current, addresses educational need, is specific and self-explanatory. (Wait approximately 5 minutes to allow time to complete)
4. For each description ask for participants to indicate if they meet each of the criteria.

Each description can likely be improved in some way(s) and participants will point them out. However, descriptions 2 and 3 are clearly incomplete:

- Description 2 does not describe current performance, rather “cannot” perform. It states what she must do in English 2, yet does not tell what she can do. It is not specific.
- Description 3 also does include some description of current behavior, yet, it does not address the educational need. It talks about strategies that have been tried, yet, doesn’t address what works. Behaviors such as “physical outbursts” are not specific.

Point of the slide – considerations when identifying areas for IEP goal

NOTE TO PRESENTER – Click to make boxes with arrows appear, click again to make box appear

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material on the next several slides.

- Educational need area identified, as have content areas, with descriptions of present levels for those areas through the present levels conversation, focus now on priorities for special education instruction
- Not all instructional needs require an IEP goal = goal when special education instruction or services needed
Examples -
  - If an instructional need can be met with an accommodation in the general classroom, there is no need for an IEP goal.
  - If the majority of instruction for a student is in the general classroom, and the teacher or student requires support from special education (e.g., coaching, consultation, co-teaching, assistance with homework, pre-teaching concepts before presented in the general classroom, etc.), a goal is necessary.
- Goals should align with those areas of need requiring specialized instruction or specific support from a special education teacher.

PRESENTER – use content from prior slide and below to continue presentation of material

- When a student is already two or three years behind grade level expectations, it is not feasible that all of the standards listed can be addressed if the gap is to be closed in a reasonable amount of time.
- A critical task is to look for those skills that support performance at the desired grade level.
- It is important to also identify basic skills that need to be addressed in addition to content standards, such as basic reading skills, math computation, writing, etc.

How does the student's disability affect involvement/ progress in the general curriculum?

Avoid This: Jamie's disability affects his progress in the general curriculum.

Do This: Jamie can identify named pictures or graphics; he shows indications of spoken word and object recognition within his own experiences. He is able to identify 20/50 basic sight words. He attends to a story reading with graphics with minimal prompts. He is able to write a simple sentence with a noun and verbs. He has difficulty with providing details when writing and retelling information. He has difficulty identifying text words without graphic support.

NOTE TO PRESENTER – Click once to make first example disappear and second example appear

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- When thinking about how the disability affects performance and progress in the general curriculum, be descriptive.
- Using the disability name does not tell anything about specific performance.
- Better to talk about the specific skill strengths then deficits as a result of the disability that interfere with participating and making progress in the general classroom.

Purpose of the slide – independent learning extension activity. On Your Own Learning Activities are for when you have your student’s IEP and other data available for review.

PRESENTER – Learner Handout packet, pp. 35 – On Your Own Learning Activity

PRESENTER – use content below to frame presentation of material

- Page 36 is for educators – it examines Instructional need in the area of literacy
- Identifying instructional need requires identifying the specific skills and knowledge to close gaps and support the student’s success in the general curriculum
- Not enough to say that based on a reading score on a certain standardized assessment the student needs instruction in reading
- Notice that the activity first directs you to locate the standards for a specific grade level, then provides a series of questions to guide the analysis to identify student strengths and areas of needed improvement

- Second activity – on p. 36 - especially designed for parents or families to examine present levels of literacy performance
- Provides a link to the Louisiana Curricular Standards and also uses a set of questions
- Questions are more specific to how the student interacts with reading in the home setting and is aimed at identifying strengths and potential areas of need
- These two On Your Own Learning Activities demonstrate how information can be gathered and analyzed to encourage a conversation that will lead to richly descriptive Present Levels statements that include the variety of perspectives representative of an IEP team.

NOTE: Content of this slide and narrative will be shaped by how the module series is presented, either as standalone or part of a longer multiple module session.

These four modules were developed by the Human Development Center, LSU Health Sciences Center and the Jefferson Parish Families Helping Families with the financial support of the Louisiana Department of Education. Integral to the development process was input from a stakeholder group representing the perspectives of parents/family members, teachers, school administrators, related service professionals, counselors, and special education supervisors. East Baton Rouge Parish graciously hosted field tests of several of the modules so developers could solicit additional feedback on module content and sequence. Staff of the Louisiana Department of Education generously offered feedback and related material. Input and advice from all these people was vital to the process of module development, however, the Human Development Center, LSUHSC, is solely responsible for the final product. No endorsement from any entity or their representatives is intended or implied.
